

From: Adam Christian Smith
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/28/02 12:19pm
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I would just like to add my two cents on how I personally have seen Microsoft quell, steal, or destroy creativity in the programming and software market using proprietary language.

Secondly, they are dirty as hell. They leverage there power and when questioned, they act like they can't innovate<sup>2</sup> if they are restricted in any way. Truth be told, Microsoft has never innovated<sup>2</sup> a thing in their history. It has all been direct copies, cheap rip-offs of other platforms, or buyouts of small companies again putting them in the position to dominate a market.

Thanks,

Adam

acs

-----

....My Four-Speed, Dual Quad, Positraction Four-Oh-Nine....
<http://homepage.mac.com/adamchristiansmith/>
(((Powered by Macintosh OS X)))